1) Students will demonstrate an awareness of audience by reflecting on how and why their rhetorical choices are effective for an assignment’s assumed audience.

2) Students will demonstrate knowledge of a particular genre of creative writing (poetry, fiction, or creative nonfiction) through the completion of an original work in that genre.

3) Students will have the ability to express complex ideas clearly in writing.

4) Students will demonstrate the ability to convincingly interpret English-language texts through close reading and analysis.

5) Students will demonstrate an understanding of conventional methods of documentation appropriate to the assignment.