

Student Learning Outcomes

College: Health and Human Services

Department: Kinesiology

Degree Program: Master of Science in Kinesiology

- 1) Graduate students will understand the methods and regulations associated with quality research in the fields of Kinesiology.
- 2) Graduate students will understand how human physiologic systems function and interact across the lifespan.
- 3) Graduate students in the Clinical Exercise Physiology concentration will be able to design, implement, and supervise exercise programing for those with chronic diseases, conditions, and/or physical shortcomings.
- 4) Graduate students in the Applied Physiology & Neuromechanics concentration will be able to analyze and evaluate advanced topics in the fields of Kinesiology.