

Student Learning Outcomes

College: Liberal Arts & Sciences

Department: Geography & Earth Sciences

Degree Program: Bachelor of Science in Meteorology

- 1) Develop sufficient knowledge to describe, analyze, and forecast the three-dimensional structure, evolution, and dynamics of the atmosphere.
- 2) Gain a basic understanding of the earth-climate system.
- 3) Students will have practiced and developed their oral communication skills to a degree where they can effectively verbally communicate a scientific topic to the general public.
- 4) Students will be able to produce professional/technical documents that present both quantitative and descriptive information in well-structured and organized fashion.